

Photo of the Week

#635: Quick, Pick One! Hurry!

Our contributor for this puzzler snapped the image on the commuter train that runs between San Jose and San Francisco. He point out that since some of the passengers probably work for Google, Facebook and Apple, perhaps “Caltrain figures their passengers are clever enough to figure in any emergency which handle is the handle to pull.”

Me, I doubt it. I’d hate to discard these clean, professional-looking signs, but a “Step 1” and “Step 2” are in order.

Want more?
<< Previous | Next >>